Passionate about technology and computer science, I am always learning about networks, system administration and web development. I also enjoy working on personal projects related to WordPress and servers. Outside the technological field, I enjoy sport and adrenaline, especially running on a motorcycle circuit. In addition, I have an interest in the automotive and mechanical, as well as in the optimization of performance in both engines and computer systems, I taste music, cinema and enjoy good times as friends. I am also interested in continuous improvement and learning new skills, both professional and personal.
